1. Collect old denim in all washes and sizes

2. Cut off legs below the zipper and slice off both seams and the hem

3. Even the edges of the pieces into 90 degree angle rectangles

4. Stitch the darkest denim into a rectangle, either in simple strips, or some fancy piecing

5. Stitch like colors together end to end forming one long strip of light denim and one long strip of darker

6. Line up the strips along the denim rectangle, off-setting the seams, and trim to the desired length.

7. Continue laying out the rest of the flag with the remaing strips of denim until the whole flag is arranged.

Stitch together the top strips, then stitch them to the rectangle

Stitch together long strips and stitch them to the top half of the flag

8. Finally, draw a few stars in chalk in, then stitch over them with a long stitch in denim yellow thread.

9. Back and bind as you wish!
